History:

The new round of the accelerated economic and social development of the Republic of Kazakhstan issues new challenges in the area of education. The necessity of high-quality innovative development of education system under the conditions of the world competition and globalization demanded the active use of opportunities of "think-tanks". Currently, the similar centers successfully function in all developed countries of the world. The efficiency of "think-tanks" in Kazakhstan was proved by a number of the demanded scientific and analytical projects implemented by The Kazakhstan Institute for Strategic Studies, National Analytical Center, Economic Research Institute. JSC Information-Analytic Center was established on the initiative of the Ministry of Education and Science of the Republic of Kazakhstan, the Resolution of the government of the Republic of Kazakhstan No. 1063, September 15, 2011. The main goal of the center was to implement the State Program of Education Development. The experienced scientists having long standing of work in education and young specialists, holders of Bolashak Scholarship, graduates of the best higher education institutions of the USA, Great Britain, Canada, Japan, South Korea, the Czech Republic, Germany, and France were invited to work in the Center. The Center received the status of “the scientific organization” on March 29, 2012 by the decision of Committee on control in the area of education of the Ministry of Education and Science of the Republic of Kazakhstan. JSC Information-Analytic Center is a lower organization of the Ministry of Education and Science of the Republic of Kazakhstan.
